

Nutritional therapy internship with Rosie Letts Nutrition

Would you like the chance to gain work experience inside a successful nutrition consultancy? This is a great opportunity to gain hands-on experience in the day to day running of a thriving Bristol based nutritional therapy practice. You will learn about successful marketing, building a brand and client generation strategies as well as the techniques I use to organise my clinic days etc.

Your projects, tasks and responsibilities will include:

- Using Nutritics analysis software to analyse clients diets and generate reports.
- Researching and writing articles for publication on our website
- Contributing to email newsletters
- Ordering diagnostic test kits for clients
- Designing and testing recipes
- Researching for client plans
- Assisting with the management of our social media platforms which include Facebook, Twitter, LinkedIn and Instagram.
- Gathering testimonials from clients
- Daily admin tasks

The successful applicant will receive real hands-on experience (I don't need coffee or printing runners) and a great portfolio of work plus a reference for your CV. As the company is based at Entrepreneurial Spark you will have the opportunity to network with the most prominent members of the Bristol startup scene. Depending on the success of the internship a permanent position may be offered.

The application deadline is 15th October 2016 and interviews will be arranged on successful application with the potential for an immediate start. Working hours are flexible but I expect roughly 10 hours a week for 3 months. You will have the opportunity to work in our office at Entrepreneurial Spark, BS2 0PT. It is also possible to complete assignments from home where this is more convenient.

Application process: To apply please email a brief paragraph about your interest along with your CV and to Rosie Letts r@rosielettsnutrition.com
