

THE BRISTOL

ISSUE 195 DECEMBER 2020

THEBRISTOLMAG.CO.UK
£3.95 where sold

MAGAZINE

Bill of the Ball

We're curling up with the West Country boy's new book this Christmas – and anticipating a promotion for the 'caretaker of the dance'

THE GIFT OF A NEW WORLD
Christmas reads and festive streams

READY FOR LIFT OFF
The house designed for life on Mars

AT HOME ON THE RANGE
Support local cooks in the community

PURPLE POWER
The shopping experience for those with disabilities

THE BRIGHT SIDE
Vibrant, responsibly made city fashion

SHOP LOCAL
Our guide to great gifting and a Clifton Village special

AND SO MUCH MORE IN THE CITY'S BIGGEST GUIDE TO LIVING IN BRISTOL

Studying nutrition has been so life changing; knowledge truly is power!

Alicia Cooper, CNM Nutritional Therapy Graduate

Having suffered from a period of ill health myself, I began to notice that everyone I spoke to – friends and family – all had an ailment of some sort. It got me thinking about the importance of nutrition and the role it plays in our physical and mental health.

This was the driving force that made me want to study nutrition; I wanted to help people understand their bodies so they can nourish themselves from the inside out.

I've always worked in the food industry, in my own business and as a freelance development chef, so my decision to study nutrition at the College of Naturopathic Medicine (CNM) was to continue my learning and progress further in my profession. As a recipe developer I became really interested in nutrition and I wanted to know more about the impact food has on our health.

I'm the owner and curator of Lifebox Food, one of the leading health and wellbeing subscription boxes in the UK and Europe. With so much misleading information out there and dubious advertising from food brands, I felt it was really important to embark on a nutrition qualification to help ensure our customers could trust Lifebox and my judgement on the products included in the boxes. I also wanted customers to feel enriched by the health and wellbeing information we give out with each box. Studying nutrition elevated my business credentials.

After struggling with my health in the past, learning about how our bodies work on a physiological level and the impact that nutrition and lifestyle choices have on the body has been so eye-opening. It has totally changed my mentality towards food and health, and this will never change. It's also awakened my desire to work with clients in a therapeutic capacity to help people feel their best. Establishing relationships with clients has been more rewarding than I ever could have imagined, and this all started in the CNM clinic.

I was really impressed when I visited the college for a tour; I also liked the setup of weekly lectures and observing the nutrition clinics. The syllabus was very comprehensive and the course content was amazing; I never expected to learn so much. Every module was incredibly riveting and enriching.

I'm now seeing clients for nutritional therapy and corporate nutrition, as well as continuing to do freelance recipe development and running Lifebox. What I love most about practising is being able to establish therapeutic relationships with clients and feel like I am making a difference to their quality of life and outlook. Educating clients to understand their bodies more and seeing them feel so empowered is such a wonderful thing!

CNM Online Open Events

Discover how natural therapies promote true health and vitality. Our events are packed with inspiring tips on how to nurture yourself in natural, sustainable ways.

And if you are thinking of turning your passion into a career, an Online Open Event will also cover what you need to know about studying at CNM.

Visit cnmcourses.com

or call 01342 777 747 to find out more

CNM has an exceptional 22-year track record training successful natural health practitioners online and in class. Over 80% of graduates are practising.

Studying nutrition has been so life changing; knowledge truly is power!

Alicia Cooper, CNM Nutritional Therapy Graduate

Having suffered from a period of ill health myself, I began to notice that everyone I spoke to – friends and family – all had an ailment of some sort. It got me thinking about the importance of nutrition and the role it plays in our physical and mental health.

This was the driving force that made me want to study nutrition; I wanted to help people understand their bodies so they can nourish themselves from the inside out.

I've always worked in the food industry, in my own business and as a freelance development chef, so my decision to study nutrition at the College of Naturopathic Medicine (CNM) was to continue my learning and progress further in my profession. As a recipe developer I became really interested in nutrition and I wanted to know more about the impact food has on our health.

I'm the owner and curator of Lifebox Food, one of the leading health and wellbeing subscription boxes in the UK and Europe. With so much misleading information out there and dubious advertising from food brands, I felt it was really important to embark on a nutrition qualification to help ensure our customers could trust Lifebox and my judgement on the products included in the boxes. I also wanted customers to feel enriched by the health and wellbeing information we give out with each box. Studying nutrition elevated my business credentials.

After struggling with my health in the past, learning about how our bodies work on a physiological level and the impact that nutrition and lifestyle choices have on the body has been so eye-opening. It has totally changed my mentality towards food and health, and this will never change. It's also awakened my desire to work with clients in a therapeutic capacity to help people feel their best. Establishing relationships with clients has been more rewarding than I ever could have imagined, and this all started in the CNM clinic.

I was really impressed when I visited the college for a tour; I also liked the setup of weekly lectures and observing the nutrition clinics. The syllabus was very comprehensive and the course content was amazing; I never expected to learn so much. Every module was incredibly riveting and enriching.

I'm now seeing clients for nutritional therapy and corporate nutrition, as well as continuing to do freelance recipe development and running Lifebox. What I love most about practising is being able to establish therapeutic relationships with clients and feel like I am making a difference to their quality of life and outlook. Educating clients to understand their bodies more and seeing them feel so empowered is such a wonderful thing!

CNM Online Open Events

Discover how natural therapies promote true health and vitality. Our events are packed with inspiring tips on how to nurture yourself in natural, sustainable ways.

And if you are thinking of turning your passion into a career, an Online Open Event will also cover what you need to know about studying at CNM.

Visit cnmcourses.com

or call 01342 777 747 to find out more

CNM has an exceptional 22-year track record training successful natural health practitioners online and in class. Over 80% of graduates are practising.